

Details

Displaying and updating the attributes of a single object requires showing the object's details which can be accomplished in several ways. From the grid view, check the box to select the desired object and then click Details. In some cases, the Details action is found in the More Actions... pull-down list. In many grid views, the object's name or title is a link that serves as a shortcut to the details.

Some kinds of objects do not have details. Some, such as the Home > Questionnaires view, have links to more than one kind of object (in this case, entities and questionnaires). Details can be displayed in the lower half of the grid view in a popup window, or the details view can replace the entire grid view. Click Back to return to the grid view from the details view.
