

About Discovered Entities

The Discovered, Managed and Unmanaged dynamic groups provide dynamic subgroups that categorize entities by entity type, for example, application, computer, and so on. Entities first show up in the Discovered dynamic group when they are discovered, for example, using a connector, or created from imported entities. Discovered or Unmanaged entities can be moved to the Managed group by selecting the Manage in the Status pull down list in the General detail display for a particular entity. You can also click on the Manage node or any Manage node subgroup and choose the "Start Managing These Entities" option from the right-click context menu. Also, from the list pane display for a selected group, you can choose Manage Entities from the More Actions menu.

Entities require a minimum of a hostname or IP and a domain to be included in displays of Discovered or Managed entities.
